

Arab Sasanian, Bishr bin Marwan, Drachm, of the Highest Rarity

- 101 Arab Sasanian, Bishr bin Marwan, Governor of Kufa (c. 73-75h), drachm, AKWLA 73h, obv. bust of Sasanian ruler to right (Khusraw II), date, in front of face) thalath/wa saba'in, margin, starting at 1:00: bism Allah, at 3:00 la ilah illa Allah, at 6:00 wahda Muhammad, at 9:00: rasul Allah; rev: fire altar flanked by two attendants, mint name AKWLA downwards on right, a monogram which could be read as BBM (= Bishr bin Marwan) downwards on left, wt. 3.34gms (unpublished), pierced, good fine, of the highest rarity £8000-10,000

In the year 73 h, while the Caliph 'Abd al-Malik bin Marwan was introducing his early Islamic dirham coinage in Damascus, he sent his brother Bishr off to Iraq, initially to govern the centre of Umayyad administration in Kufa and then in Basra. It is clear that he was given exceptional powers to introduce the new Islamic coinage where he had direct authority. This coin adds another piece to the very small corpus of coinage which can be attributed with certainty to this innovative governor. The place AKWLA was recorded by the Encyclopædia of Islam as being a gravelly wasteland where the governor established his headquarters somewhat to the north of the new town of a-Kufa where the bulk of the population lived. The use of what appears to be a monogram in the reverse field is an exceptional feature of this coin. Perhaps Bishr was showing suitable modesty on his first coinage. On his later issues he inscribed his full name in Pahlawi.

- 102 Arab-Byzantine, fals, two standing figures type, Ba'albak (W.132); Umayyad, fals, Istakhr, undated, citing Salm b. al-Musayyib (W.305); fals, Jibrin, undated (W.319); Revolutionary Period, Abu Muslim, fals, no mint, 131h (W.370); together with other Umayyad fulus (2), fine or nearly so, most scarce or rare (6) £200-250
- 103 Arab-Byzantine, Anonymous, fals, standing caliph type, al-Ruha, undated, rev. mintname in right field, wt. 2.94gms. (A.3538), good fine, very rare £120-150
- 104 Arab-Byzantine, 'Abd al-Malik, fals, standing caliph type, Qurus, undated, wt. 3.46gms. (SICA 1:672-673; A.3536; W.138), fine, very rare £120-150

- 105 Umayyad, temp. ‘Abd al-Malik b. Marwan (65-86h), dirham, al-Taymara 80h, wt. 2.75gms. (Klat - ; unrecorded),
good very fine, extremely rare £8000-10,000

Up until the discovery of this dirham the mint of al-Taymara was only known for coinage beginning in the year 90h of the Hijra. All earlier pieces were given the mint name Shaqq al-Taymara. The location of these two coexisting mints is somewhat of a mystery. Later references suggest that al-Taymara was in or close to the city of Isfahan, and the meaning of the word Shaqq (or “Division”) may apply to a distinct section of al-Taymara.

- 106 Umayyad, temp. ‘Abd al-Malik, dirham, Shaqq al-Taymara 82h, wt. 2.18gms. (Klat 204.2, A. 126), flan chipped, very fine, scarce £100-200

- 107 Arab-Latin, Umayyad, temp. al-Walid I (86-96h), gold semessis or half dinar, Spain, undated c.95h, eight pointed star with Latin legend surrounding, rev. cippus with globe on steps, wt. 1.93gms. (A.123; cf. Walker H3A9), obverse struck off-centre, striking edge split, otherwise extremely fine and very rare £3500-4000

- 108 Umayyad, temp. al-Walid I (86-96h), dinar, no mint 92h, (A 127), about uncirculated £600-700
- 109 Umayyad, temp. al-Walid I/Sulayman, gold thulth or 1/3 dinar, no mint 96h, wt. 1.42gms. (A. 127B), very fine and rare £800-1000

- 110 Umayyad, Sulayman (b. 'Abd al-Malik 96-99h), lead treasury and accounting weight of 20 dinars, no mint name date 99h, field: Muhammad/rasul Allah/sana tisa'/wa tisa'/in mi'a, margin (partial text): amira bibi Sulayman amir al-mu'minin wt. 87.05gms, encrusted, good very fine, of the highest rarity, probably unique £6000-8000

This extraordinary object undoubtedly formed part of the equipment employed in the work of an Umayyad treasury office. It would have been used to regulate the receipt and disbursement of gold dinars. When the weight of this piece is divided by twenty the resulting average weight is 4.35 grams, close to the theoretical Syrian weight of the dinar, which was approximately a half carat heavier than the Umayyad dinars in regular circulation at the time that this weight was cast. This piece provides an interesting glimpse into the daily life of an Umayyad treasury office and is a key artefact in the regulation of treasury accounts.

- 111 Umayyad, temp. 'Umar (99-101h), gold thulth or 1/3 dinar, no mint 100h, wt. 1.42gms. (A. 132B), good very fine £600-800

In this mint and year there were several different dies used for the manufacture of dirhams. This was the final type, with four double annulets in the obverse margin which was the design used in subsequent years.

- 203 Abbasid, temp. Harun al-Rashid, dinars (2), no mint, in the name of the heir al-Amin, 182h, wt. 4.19gms., 185h, wt. 4.13gms. (Bernardi 75; W.382), the first with excess metal in obverse field and some light scratches, the second bent, otherwise both very fine (2) £300-400

- 204 Abbasid, Harun al-Rashid, dirham, San'a' 183h, rev. field: alif fa, kaf or mim alif -/ Yazid, wt. 1.11gms. (Lowick 546 for date), chipped, clipped, otherwise fine, very rare £400-500

This and the following dirhams from the mint of San'a' are all of the highest rarity. Judging by their frail fabric it is no surprise that so few have survived and that they are so rarely encountered.

- 205 Abbasid, temp. Harun al-Rashid, dinar, no mint, 192h, li'l-khalifa on reverse, wt. 4.24gms. (Bernardi 73; W.382), good very fine £200-250

This is a newly identified dinar bearing the title of al-Fadl bin Sahl, Dhu'l-Riyasatayn ("Holder of the Two Jurisdictions"). Now there appears to be three types of al-Fadl's dinars which bear geographical designations in their obverse fields. Al-Maghrib (the West) for coinage struck in Egypt, al-Iraq probably for that from the capital, Madinat al-Salam and al-Mashriq (the East) for that of an unknown mint in Khurasan, possibly Marw where the Caliph al-Ma'mun lived. This beautiful and previously unknown coin may have been seen as an act by al-Fadl which overstepped his powers and prompted his death shortly after it was struck.

- 214 Abbasid, al-Ma'mun, dinar, no mint Misr 203h, citing Governor al-Sari, rev. al-Maghrib, wt. gms. (A 222; Bernardi 94De), extremely fine £300-350

Early issues of Abbasid dinars from the mint of San'a' were originally struck around the weight of 4.25 grams, but later the Yemeni dinar was reduced in weight to that of the canonical dirham, 2.98 grams. Much of the early heavier Abbasid gold coinage was clumsily clipped in an attempt to conform with the later weight.

- 239 Abbasid, al-Mutawakkil 'ala-Allah (232-247h), dinar, Marw 234h, wt. 4.26gms. (Bernardi 155Ph; A. 229.1), extremely fine, rare £300-350

- 251 Abbasid, al-Mu'tazz (251-255h), dinar, Makka 252h, wt. 4.11gms. (A. 235.1; Bern. 162Ef), a pleasing very fine, of the highest rarity £25,000-30,000

In 160h / 777 CE the Makam Ibrahim, the stone behind which the Prophet Muhammad prayed when he performed the circumambulation of the Holy Ka'ba, and which bears the footprints of the Prophet Ibrahim impressed into its surface at the time that he was building the Holy House, was brought to the abode of al-Mahdi in Makka when he performed the pilgrimage. In the next year, when the makam was raised carelessly by one of its keepers, it fell down and cracked; it was repaired on the order of al-Mahdi and its upper and lower parts were braced with gold. Al-Mutawakkil in 241h / 655-656 CE improved the pedestal of the makam, embellished the makam itself with gold and ordered the building of a cupola over the makam (cf al-Sinjari, Mana'ih al-karam bi-akhbar Makka wa'l Haram, ms. Leiden fol. 120b). In 252h / 866 CE the makam was stripped of its gold by the Governor of Makka Ja'far bin al-Fadl; the gold was then melted down for minting Dinars, which he spent in the struggle against the rebel Isma'il bin Yusuf bin Ibrahim (see al-Sinjari op.cit. fols. 120a ult. - 120b; for Isma'il bin Yusuf see al-Fasi, al-'Ikd al-thamin, ed. Fu'ad Sayyid, Cairo 1383/1963, iii, 311, no 383). A thorough restoration of the Makam was carried out in 256h / 870 CE by the Governor 'Ali bin al-Hasan al-Hashimi (see al-Fasi op. cit. vi, 151, no. 2050).

The gold for the famous Dinar of the caliph al-Mu'tazz dated 252h, which so eloquently symbolises the importance of this sacred spot, came from the covering of the Makam Ibrahim.

- 252 Abbasid, al-Mu'tazz, dinar, Samarqand 253h, wt. 4.29gms. (Bernardi 162Qe; W.412), small scrape on obverse, otherwise about extremely fine £300-400

- 254 Abbasid imitation, al-Mu'izz/al-Muwaffaq, dirham, Simurg? 265h? wt. 3.11gms, about very fine, very rare £150-200
- This is an enigmatic coin. At first glance it appears to be a product of a silver mining mint in the Panjhir region of Afghanistan, but it mismatches a coin of al-Mu'izz found on the reverse with the name al-Muwaffaq on the obverse. The mint, Simurg, is otherwise unknown and the date is implausible. As such it suggests that the coin is a contemporary imitation by an unknown hand.

This object is clearly not a coin or commodity weight, but it certainly must have fulfilled another official function. The cataloguer suggests that it was a matrix used to prepare official seals to be stamped on letters and other documents to show the possession of items emanating from the office of the "servant of God", al-Ma'mun, "Commander of the Faithful". It is interesting to note that al-Ma'mun is described as the Imam (the Religious Leader) rather than Khalifa (Caliph), a more secular title.

It is likely that this coin was struck by the Sulayhids of the Yemen in the name of the Fatimid caliph, who was the spiritual leader of the Shi'a Muslims in Egypt and the Yemen at this time. Nicol, in his book on the Fatimid coinage, records that coins of this type from Zabid in 445h. are rare, and that only one of Zabid 447h is known. Later in this year the Zabid mint adopted the design of the contemporary dinar coinage issued by al-Mustansir in the lands he ruled.

Album notes that there was a hiatus in the coinage from this silver mining region in today's Afghanistan. This crude coinage provides us with a glimpse of an otherwise very obscure period in its history.

The cataloguer does not remember having seen a better example of this emergency military issue. It was struck at the eastern Anatolian mining mint of Gumushkhana ("Silver House") during the Ottoman war with the Safawids/Afsharids of Iran.

- 509 Ilkhan, Uljaytu (703-716h), dinar, Khanus 716h, wt. 7.14gms (Diler Ilkhans UL-370; A. 2186), good very fine, very rare £800-1000

Khanus is a rarely encountered mint name for the eastern Anatolian town of today's Kinis between Erzurum and Lake Van. It is only recorded in silver bearing the name of Uljaytu, and this dinar is a previously unknown gold coin from the mint.

- 510 Ilkhan, Abu Sa'id (716-736h), dinar, type C, Isfahan 721h, wt. 9.00gms. (Diler Ab-488, mint unrecorded in gold; A. 2198), good very fine, very rare £600-800

While silver coinage is frequently found from the mint of Isfahan, gold is only occasionally encountered. Diler does not record a dinar of this date.

- 511 Ilkhan, Abu Sa'id, dirham, Lahijan 723h, wt. 2.77gms (Diler Ab 504, unrecorded date; A. 2206 type E), very fine, very rare £50-80

The date, 723h, is previously unrecorded for a coin from this mint and the type itself is very rare.

- 512 Ilkhans, Sulayman, dinar, type B, Tabriz 741h, wt. 8.85gms. (A. F2248; Diler c.f. Su768), struck slightly off-centre, but good very fine, rare £800-1000

- 517 Safavid, Isma'i'l I, silver 2 shahi, Demevand undated, wt. 18.80gms. (A.2575), very fine and rare £500-600

- 518 Safawid, temp. Tahmasb I b. Isma'il (939-984h), silver larins (3), no mint or date visible, wts. 4.93, 4.92 and 4.82 gms. (A. A2588 or 1610), all good very fine (3) £250-300

- 519 Safawid, Tahmasb II b. Husayn (1135-1145h), silver 20 shahi, Isfahan 1142h, wt. 24.86gms (A. A2689), good very fine, extremely rare £5000-6000

This splendid coin is usually found with traces of mounting and evidence of long use as a highly-prized article of jewellery. This piece, however, is in truly exceptional condition which suggests that it may have been retained in the treasury for accounting purposes.

- 520 Sultanate of Bengal, 'Ali Mardan (c. 606-609h), gold fractional horseman tanka, no mint, undated, wt. 2.27gms (Goron and Goenka p. 147, B7), about very fine, very rare £400-600

- 521 Amirs of Tilimsan, Anonymous, dirham, Tilimsan 180h, wt. 180h, wt. 2.29gms (A. T434; Eustache 80), good very fine, very rare £600-800

- 522 'Alid of Qazwin, al-Husayn b. Ahmad (c. 250-253h), dirham, Qazwin 253h, wt. 2.76gms (A. H1524), pierced, good very fine, extremely rare £400-500

This exceedingly rare dirham, although pierced, is a beautiful example of the artistry that went into the creation of its dies. Al-Husayn was, however, a usurper who set himself up in Qazwin and was able to hold it for three years, between 250 and 253 h. Album records that the word al-thaghr ("frontier") found in the obverse field demarcated the border between the Shi'a city of Qazwin and the Sunni states to the south.

- 523 Asian imitation, dirham, Samarqand 103h (sic), wt. 3.64gms, double struck, very fine, very rare £150-200

At first glance this is a very plausible Islamic dirham, but it bears features which suggest another but unknown origin. First of all, the obverse field contains the congratulatory words bakh bakh ("bravo bravo"), which on genuine Islamic coins always appears in the reverse field. The date 103h is totally impossible and should actually be circa 301h, and the location of the mint could not have been Samarqand, but somewhere elsewhere in the east. Unfortunately, the word in the lower reverse field is illegible due to double striking. This is a delightful numismatic curiosity.
